Pima Insights

When we place a few moments of focus each day on the smooth, gentle movements of the fingers and the thumb of each hand we naturally help our instrument to create its beautiful and unique sound. We open the opportunity to share a sound that is deep and full and colorful when played both softly (piano) and with volume (forte).

Singing Notes

Singing each note name is like saying hello to a friend. Some are long-time friends you know quite well and some are new friends with new ideas. Each note has its own unique place in the alphabet of a wonderful story.

It is indeed an amazing experience to sit with your guitar and a cup of tea, deep in the shade of your favorite summer tree...!

Historical Notes

Rooted in the early courts of Europe and the musical Conservatori system for the orphans of 17c Naples, individual guidance and the process of learning, studying and playing music together expands our thinking and our way of seeing the world in the same way harmony expands and colors the music we play.

This is Emma and her very first guitar performance. Stefan Schmidt, a colleague and well regarded German educator, is holding the pencil: Emma and Stefan

Here is the Weimar Guitar Quartet, once young students of Stefan in Friedberg, Germany. 'Sunfish' is a work from contemporary composer Nigel Westlake's composition Six Fish. Enjoy...! Weimar Guitar Quartet
